THE ADA AUDITORIUM NOW AN ASSURED FACT

STOCK IN THE PROPOSITION ABOUT ALL SUBSCRIBED AND STOCKHOLDERS WILL ORGAN-IZE TOMORROW NIGHT.

The auditorium proposition is a winner and Ada will soon rejoice in an auditorium that will accommodate any and all demands that may reasonably be made upon the city in that line for years to come.

The plans for the city hall, the walls of which are now up two stories high, are being revised to add another floor with high ceiling for the auditorium. The arrangement of this third floor will be with a view to exclusive use as an auditorium of modern equipment.

This will not only afford the city with a model place for all high class entertainment, lectures, etc., but will provide ample accommodation for county, district and state conventions of various kinds.

Ada is situated so that she will now be a favored point for these conventions and the new auditorium will provide not only ample room for the main assembly of such bodies but will provide committee rooms and such necessary accommodations as will make this a favorite candidate for all sorts of assemblies.

The subscribers for stock in this enterprise will meet tomorrow, Wednesday, evening for organization. It is expected that the work of laying the brick on the extension of the walls will begin in a very few days so that the new auditorium will be ready for use this fall.

Any persons who have not yet subscribed will do well to join in this matter and, although the stock has all been pledged, an effort will be made to induce some to reduce their subscriptions in order to let in as many as seek to identify themselves with this public movement. The more good people there are identified with the enterprise the better will be the results.

OKLAHOMA CENTRAL SPUR NOW BUILDING INTO ADA

Work of Grading the New Line Began
This Afternoon and Will Be Hurried Through to Completion.

"The work of grading the spur line connecting Ada with the main line of the Oklahoma Central began this afternoon at 1 o'clock with a good force of men. This work will be hurried as fast as possible and trains will be run into the Ada depot by October 1st. All trains will be run into the Ada depot."

President Dorset Carter at 1 o'clock this afternoon made the statement quoted. It is the most welcome bit of news that this paper has had the pleasure of publishing for some time for it means a very great and an immediate advantage to all the business interests of this city and county.

The new line will be one and three-fourths miles in length and is the property of the Ada Terminal Railroad company, a new corporation just formed with the following officers and directors: Dorset Carter, president; C. E. Wilson, secretary-treasurer; P. A. Norris, A. K. Thornton, H. T. Douglass, Tom Hope and Adam Beck, directors. These are all Ada men with the exception of Messrs. Carter and Wilson who are actively engaged in operating the Oklahoma Central, Mr. Carter being the president of that road.

As soon as the terminal is completed the road will be turned over to the receiver of the Oklahoma Central for operation and will be to all intents and purposes a part of that line.

The new line will reach the cement plant and the oil mill, at the latter place connecting with the M., K. & T. It is presumed that the Katy engines will use the terminal tracks to reach the cement plant and that the terminal will use the Katy tracks at the oil mills. This reciprocal arrangement would give each road access to both these great industries.

The location for the depot at Ada has not yet been determined but will be located at some easily accessible and advantageous place.

O. C. Depot on North Broadway.
There has been some interest manifested today in the probable location of the Oklahoma Central depot. It rather appears that those putting up the money and controlling the situation are strongly inclined to locate

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE" DEMANDED AT THE JAIL

The People of Ada and Pontotoc County Are Incensed at the Apparent Lack of Vigilance at the County Jail.

Since the daring attempt Saturday night by Frank Scribner to effect a wholesale delivery of the prisoners confined in the county jail there have been emphatic criticisms of the jail management heard on every hand. The Evening News believes in according a square deal to all concerned and does not seek to vent any spite whatever upon the sheriff or upon his assistants, but will, in the discharge of its duty as a public informant, state criticisms that are being made by reliable parties and state facts as they can be gleaned from the sheriff's office, the jail, county officers, public records and any direct and reliable source of information.

The consensus of public complaint is that the jail is very loosely managed in the matter of guarding. Instances are numerous wherein persons have without question or challenge—without even seeing any guard or other official on duty—walked into the jail yard, taken their own time to look about, converse with prisoners if they chose, and walk away at leisure, all without having seen any official whatever.

One man yesterday did this. A negro prisoner was sitting behind the bars in the negro cell on the north side of the yard, this cell being in a separate building from the main jail. There was nothing at all to prevent his having talked with this prisoner or to have handed him anything from a six-gun or a few pounds of dynamite to a toothpick.

The statement is made by county officials that the custom has been to frequently hand baskets of food through the door of the main cage to the prisoners, these baskets being covered with napkin or towel.

Three pop bottles were taken from the cage soon after the attempt at delivery, according to another officer. This officer argues that pop bottles make dangerous weapons in the hands of criminals.

It is a story apparently in the mouths of nearly everybody about town that some time ago Dan Scribner, the man who is resting under sentence of death and waiting for decision of the supreme court of criminal appeals, called to the jailor to come and look up the jail or they would all walk out and that on investigation it was found the cage door was not locked. It is also said that Scribner is allowed to walk about the corridor of the jail.

Still another general complaint is that "trusties" are allowed to go out in town freely and stay out indefinitely, sometimes sleeping away from the custody of officers. They go to shows and, in fact, about do as they please. One prisoner was even allowed to go out of town for a while. These are statements made by officials and citizens of prominence in the community. Three "trusties" are now "at large."

Aside from these "trusties" there are now eleven prisoners in the jail. Of this number one is under sentence of death awaiting the final decision of the supreme court of criminal appeals; five are charged with murder, some in the first degree; five are charged with minor offenses.

These prisoners are allowed to mix freely in the main cage of the jail. This cage is divided into four cells, two on each side with a narrow hallway between. The door of the cage is directly opposite a door in the corridor that opens into the jail yard. A man standing in the yard could easily pass arms or explosives to prisoners in the cage by tossing them across the corridor, which is about ten feet wide, or pushing them along the floor with a stick.

In securing the gun with which he held up the guard Saturday night Frank Scribner used a mop stick with another little stick which the prisoners had been allowed to use in their bunks tied to the end of it, making a pole about six or seven feet long. Where he got the nail to make the hook in the end of this pole is not stated. He had to reach diagonally across a corner of the narrow side corridor that surrounds the main cage, under the cot to the gun which, with other guns was lying there loaded.

There is criticism of the fact that the mop stick and other sticks were available, that the nail was available, that the guns were left in sight of the prisoners, that the prisoner was allowed to have the hand mirror which he used to assist in seeing the guns.

The attempt at delivery occurred at 9:15 o'clock and there is further criticism of the fact that at that hour the prisoners were all loose in the cage instead of having been placed in the cells for the night.

Strength is given to these criticisms on account of the character and number of prisoners now in the jail.

County Clerk Kerr states that the county commissioners allow $120 a month for guarding the jail. This is presumed to pay a night and day guard whose duty it shall be to maintain a constant surveillance of the jail and prevent the possibility of anything being handed to the prisoners or even any communication with the prisoners except under guard. The county commissioners do not stipulate exactly as to how the money shall be expended and they allow the sheriff to manage the guarding of the jail as he sees fit. They have the power, however, to stipulate and it is suggested that they should assume that power and demand a constant supervision of the jail.

Mr. Kerr also says that since January 1 there have been claims presented to the commissioners for guarding the jail amounting to $1,- 000, but that all of these have not been allowed.

The incident of Saturday night was an affair of the utmost concern to the public, and as they think over the matter and consider its various phases the people more and more realize its gravity. A terrible calamity was avoided by a mighty narrow margin. If Scribner had accomplished his purpose the incident would have been the cap sheaf of the stack of troubles that has accumulated recently to the discredit of this county.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty—also the distinguishing mark of the proper conduct of a jail full of murderers.

TERRIFIC HEAT WAVE OPPRESSES THE COUNTRY

Reports from Oklahoma and in Northern States Show Hottest Season of the Entire Year.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 17.—The thermometer at the United States weather observatory yesterday registered 103 at 2:30. Shade thermometers in the business district reached 108 to 112. It was the hottest day of the season in Oklahoma City and over the entire southwest country, and the hottest recorded here in fifteen years.

No heat prostrations are reported, but dispatches state that crops have been materially damaged, in some places the good effect of the moisture brought by recent rains having been practically overcome. A sultry western wind has blown part of the day relieving the humidity in the early forenoon.

At Muskogee the thermometer registered 110 and was the highest in eight years. A hot wind blew all day at McAlester with the temperature at 108. Vegetation there is being killed. Cotton is materially damaged.

From all over the state come reports of intense heat. In fact, throughout the country there is a prevalent hot wave. St. Louis is suffering more than any other city and many heat prostrations are reported.

Forbid Hitching in Streets.

In Kansas a county board of health recently issued an order that teams cannot be hitched in front of any store in the county. The board made an investigation and found that the horses stirred up a great deal of dust and refuse and attracted flies and that this dust and the flies was settled on foodstuffs in the stores. Every hitching rack in the county has been ordered removed.

THE MAYOR RETURNS HOME.

Health Benefited by Trip—Reports Cotton Crop Conditions of Central Texas Very Unfavorable.

Hon. L. J. Little returned Sunday from a week's visit with his brother Charlie, at Belton, Texas. His honor, the mayor, whose onerous duties as conductor of a large business and working mayor of a city constructing large public improvements, when he went away plainly showed the unfavorable effects of the over strain during torrid months, but he came back looking splotchy and vigorous.

Mr. Little stated that though the crops were very poor in the section of his travels and visit, that very unlike Ada, he never heard a single farmer among the great number with whom he talked complain as to the conditions. The apparent reason for such unusual disposition, stated this Ada merchant, was evidently the fact that practically all the farmers of that section have substantial bank accounts and money out at interest.

Mr. Little added that for the distance of several hundred miles through Texas, he saw very few fields of cotton that could possibly yield more than a bale to the dozen acres.

Pontotoc county needs a road fund.
The county cannot develop its vast umn headline to announce: "Shawnee's City Water Above Suspicion." Glad to know that something in liquid form is above suspicion in Shawnee.

A contemporary in discussing a good roads proposition calls the maintenance—or endurance—of poor roads a "mud tax." The definition is quite correct, and "mud tax" is the heaviest tax any people ever had to pay.

The Georgia legislature, being still in session at the close of congress, was urged by the governor to pass a bill for submitting the income tax amendment, thus being the first state to act in the matter. But the legislature adjourned without acting and Georgia is still in the class with the balance of us.

owing to unusual vigilance on the part of the police necessity for a riot call was avoided.

BACK UP THESE FIVE MEN BY PLEDGING YOUR SHARE

Petition to Back Up the Men Who Guaranteed First Year Normal Fund
Is Being Liberally Signed.

We, the undersigned citizens of Ada, Oklahoma, authorize E. H.
Lucas to telephone to the Board of Regents that we will sign a note to raise Ten Thousand Dollars to furnish the Normal School at Ada for running expenses until an appropriation can be made to reimburse us.
TOM HOPE.
J. W. HAYS.
L. J. LITTLE.
J. L. BARRINGER.
M. B. DONAGHEY.

The above agreement was necessary in order to secure the opening of the Ada Normal school for this fall. The legislature in passing the bill to establish the school neglected, in the rush of business at the closing sessions, to provide a maintenance fund.
It will require about sixteen thou-said dollars to conduct the school the first year. There will be six or seven thousand dollars available from the school lands revenues for the Ada school. The balance necessary had to be secured as above or else the school would not open until after the meeting of the next legislature. The above patriotic men unhesitatingly assumed the obligation on behalf of the city.

Of course, it is presumed that the next session of the legislature will appropriate funds to make good this money that will have to be advanced.
But it is neither good grace nor good business to allow these five men to assume the whole burden. It is a matter in which the whole citizenship should share. So the following petition is being circulated by E. H.
Lucas, president of the 25,000 Club and is being very generally and generously signed:

Ada, Okla., Aug. 17, 1909.
Whereas, J. W. Hayes, Tom Hope, J. L. Little, J. L. Barringer and M. B. Donaghey, and any others who have agreed and bound themselves to execute their personal notes to some party or parties, who may agree to loan the sum, or sums not exceeding $10,000 for the purpose of maintaining the East Central State Normal school until such time as the Legislature may make the necessary appropriation for this purpose, said note to be made at such time as the money may be required in the operation of the school, we the undersigned hereby agree and bind ourselves that in the event that from any cause the makers of the above said notes shall be compelled to pay the notes, to pay the sum set opposite our names, or such part of said sum as may be necessary, for the purpose of indemnifying the makers against loss to themselves.

It is hoped and expected that every good citizen will cheerfully obligate himself for such an amount as he feels able to offer as a backing and endorsement of these men who at the critical time came to the support of the city.

OKLAHOMA SIFTINGS.

Hominy thinks she is going to be favored by the location of an Indian school and college. She asked for the institution because many of her people objected to having the Indian children in the public school.

Pauls Valley voted on the proposition to try the commission form of government, a very light vote was cast and the proposition lost by a majority of nine. Little public interest was manifest.

Muskogee is putting on real city airs with a lot of automobile killings, mainings and wreckings; criminal loves, suicides and similar social fes-terings; crooked politics and graft-ings.

The Ardmoreite is strongly advocating the county bond issue soon to be voted on in that county to secure funds for roads and bridges. There can be no real development and progress without roads and bridges and every county ought to have them or else go out of business and ask to be joined to some other county. And bond issues seem to be the best means of securing the necessary funds.

Our Public Schools.

Editor Ada Evening News.

It is encouraging to note that the value of the taxable property in the sixty-one school districts of Pontotoc county, with a reasonable rate of taxation, is sufficient to maintain a full term of school in each district with but few exceptions. Our trustees and patrons have not been unmindful of these splendid advantages that are now coming their way. They have met in their respective districts voted bonds for building school houses and equipping them, levied the annual taxes for maintaining a term of school, all of which goes to show that our people are appreciative of schools.

We feel that our educational future is assured. The people are beginning to realize that it is a higher evidence of a twentieth century civilization, also that it is more economical to educate the child than to maintain the criminal. And really, education is the principal solution to the question of crime. In nearly all the states the prosecution and punishment of crime is higher than that of popular education.

Take a boy that is brought up with no schooling whatever, no religious instruction, who has been reared in an atmosphere of illiteracy and vice, let him become accused and convicted of an atrocious crime. This boy's trial and conviction would cost the county in many instances more than it would take to maintain the public schools of the county.

This amount required to prosecute and punish crime is raised by local taxation. I believe I make no exaggerated statement when I say that a boy or girl who is properly educated in our public or private schools by competent and influential teachers who point them to higher and nobler things is not likely to go very far wrong. Therefore I conclude that it is more economical to educate the child than to maintain the criminal.
J. F. PIRECE.

The depot some where near North Broadway near the Frisco tracks. It had been thought by some that the logical location of the depot would be on a smooth block of land between west Main and west 12th streets. If the depot should be constructed on west Main, there would be a straight line down the main business thoroughfare to the other two depots; and if the depot should be located on West 12th street there would be a nice paved street to traverse coming into town and also there would be afforded the travel a straight street connection with the splendid viaduct now to be constructed over the Katy tracks on East 12th street, thereby contributing materially to the convenience to all the travel bound for the east district of the city. But it looks like the depot is doomed for the manufacturing district on the north side of business. Any old location suits the News so the road gets into town.

O. C. Reaches All Industries.

It is understood that very practical arrangement has been effected between the Oklahoma Central and M.
K. & T. Rys. whereby the former connects with the latter at the oil mill thereby enabling the Katy to use the O. C. tracks to the cement plant and the O. C. to use the Katy tracks to the balance of the Ada industries and manufacturers.

Favors Change in Constitution.

"The constitution hurt me worse than the panic in promoting the Oklahoma Central railroad. We must repeal the railroad clause of the constitution. If that clause is repealed and a good law substituted we will see the greatest boom in railroad building ever known in this country—and that will develop the state.
Capital cannot be secured for large railroad building under our present constitution."

President Dorset Carter of the Oklahoma Central railroad gave expression to the above in the course of an interview with the Evening News this afternoon relative to the building of the new spur line to connect Ada with the main line of his road.

"THE OKLAHOMA OIL BUSINESS HAS SEEN ITS BEST DAYS."

A Wall of Woe From Tulsa Blaming Standard Oil for Conditions in the Oklahoma Oil Fields.

Tulsa, Ok., Aug. 16.—About the loneliest place in the country today is Keifer, the oil town of the famous oil field. Six months ago Keifer was one of the liveliest places on the map. Since then have come two heavy cuts in Oklahoma oil from the Standard Oil company, and the oil industry has gone dead.

One man is now employed in the Glenn pool where ten were working three months ago. No one knows when the tide will turn for the better.

For five years Oklahoma oil producers have been looking for better prices for oil, but they have never come. To add to the difficulties, the department of the interior has just promulgated an order that producers must pay royalty to Indian allottees on a basis of 41 cents a barrel when the best grade of oil now sells for but 35 cents a barrel. Moreover, the Indian gets real money from the lessor or even though the lessor is compelled to tank the oil, take chances on lightning destroying it and possibly hold it for a year or two before he can sell it and then perhaps sell at a loss.

The Standard Oil company has 50,000,000 barrels of oil stored in Oklahoma today, and when the low prices are complained of and committees wait upon the Standard for a raise, they are told that Oklahoma is producing enough oil to supply the entire world, and that if production is not curtailed instead of an advance in price further cuts may come. Some producers say they would not be surprised if the price of Oklahoma oil fell to 15 and 20 cents a barrel within the next year.

Thousands of oil men, including field workmen, have left the state during the past month. Illinois has attracted hundreds, and Mexico and far foreign countries, where the oil business is thriving, many others. Most every oil man you meet nowadays tells you that the oil industry of Oklahoma has seen its best days.

"TARIFF BILL A FRAUD" SAYS BRYAN AT DES MOINES

THE GREAT CHAMPION OF DEMOCRACY FOR FIRST TIME GIVES FREE EXPRESSION TO HIS VIEWS ON TARIFF.

Declares the Republican Leaders Perpetrated a Deliberate Fraud and Taft Might Have Prevented It.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 17.—For the first time, Wm. J. Bryan, gave expression here in an interview of his opinion of the new tariff bill and the manner of its passage. He not only flayed the bill but blamed President Taft for its passage. Mr. Bryan said: "The Aldrich bill is a consummate fraud deliberately planned and boldly executed. The republican party platform made a pledge to revise the tariff and the words unequivocally and speedily were inserted in the platform to make it appear that the revenue was to be a reduction.

"Mr. Taft evidently realized the weakness of the platform upon which he was running and in the early days of the campaign he avoided any reference to a reduction of the tariff. "Finally driven to take some stand by revealed questions, he stated that the tariff should be revised again, that some schedules should be lowered and some raised, and finally after more questions, he stated that the revision would probably be downward.

"After the convening of congress, President Taft seemed to be indifferent to the fact that the progressives were being defeated on almost every proposition and the only time that he interposed in the action of congress was when he took part in the defeat of the income tax, doing this at the behest of Aldrich.

"After the house had raised the tariff bill and the senate had raised it still more, the president did not take a hand in the matter or his efforts were confined to a few schedules. He had not attempted to use the iniquitous cotton schedule and the constitution to protect the consumer. He did not protest against the iniquitous cotton schedule and still more iniquitous woolen schedule and he did not object against the 25 per cent ad valorem advance upon all schedules.

"To sum it up, the Aldrich bill is a fraud and the republican leaders intended to perpetrate it. The president could have prevented its passage but he failed to do it."

POUL MURDER UNEARTHED REVOLTING TALE OF LUST

Inhuman Son Enamored of His Step Mother—Wife and Son Co-operate in Committing Murder of Father and Husband.

Pawhuska, Okla., Aug. 17.—A. P. Brown has made a full confession of one of the most revolting crimes in the history of Oklahoma. Yesterday he conducted officers to a spot in the western part of the county where he promised to show the grave where his father is buried and where he was murdered last April by his wife, the step mother of the young man.

While in camp near Bliss, the 101 ranch, according to young Brown, his stepmother struck his sleeping father in the head with an axe, and after killing him burned his body in a brush heap.

The young prisoner's story involves the treachery of an inhuman son and an unfaithful wife.

Mrs. Brown is alleged to have been enamored by her stepson, and in February last the couple were arrested in Kansas City for lewdly abiding.

This brought about trouble between the elder Brown and his wife, but subsequently the parties were reconciled, and it is now believed the reconciliation was brought about for the purpose of securing the old man's money.

After the death of his father Brown left this part of the country, which together with other peculiar circumstances aroused suspicion and caused an investigation. The young man was located in Luling, Tex., and was there arrested by Sheriff Ellis to whom he made a complete confession.

He told Sheriff Ellis that his father, stepmother and little niece left Pawhuska last April in a covered wagon to go to Bliss, and it was while in camp near that place that the horrible murder was committed.

Mrs. Brown stated a few days ago that the old man had $19,000 when he disappeared, and it is believed that his brutal wife and son divided the money after disposing of his body.

Mrs. Brown is heavily guarded, mob violence being seriously feared. The preliminary hearing is set for today.

"A REGULAR KLONDIKE" ADA ASPHALT DEPOSITS.

Dorset Carter Declares the Local Asphaltum to Be the Best in the World for Street Paving Purposes.

"You have right at the edge of your city the greatest asphaltum beds in this country. It is a regular Klondike if you will only develop it."

Dorset Carter, president of the Oklahoma Central railroad, who was in Ada today looking after the inauguration of work on the new spur line to connect his road with Ada, says so. And he is in position to know for it was after a thorough investigation of this and other matters of business that he decided to promote the building of the spur line.

"This asphaltum," continued Mr. Carter, "is the best paving material in the world. It has been under test on the streets of Lawton for some time and is proving superior to anything known in paving material, except the Ardmore asphaltum which, by repeated tests of analysis, has been found to be identical with that of Ada.

"If the commercial club and other interests of Ada will get behind this asphaltum proposition and boost it as hard as they have recently boosted for other things you will soon have a great city here as a result of the development of your natural resources."

Mr. D. A. Herring has been developing a deposit of this asphaltum during the past eighteen months. Since January 1 he has shipped about 250 cars of material and is now making a fair daily production from his workings. This material has thoroughly proven its merits under severe tests. The material is easy of access, rendering its production cheap enough to readily compete with the greater institutions in that line.

CLEVER MR. BROWN

HUSBY FAR TOO OLD A FOX TO BE EASILY CAUGHT.

Of Course He Remembered Anniversary—That is, If You Don't Ask the Florist—And He Squared Himself.

Brown looked up from the soup plate that he had just emptied, to see what the next course was going to be, and saw his wife looking at him suspiciously, scornfully.

His conscience felt easy, but he wondered what was up.

"Do you know what day this is?" asked Mrs. Brown, accusingly.

Brown wondered if there was some catch to it. "Let's see," he said. "Well, I'll bite. What's the answer?"

Mrs. Brown shook her head dejectedly. "And after only four years," she muttered. But her half-audible remark was sufficient to bring Brown to it. It was like a dash of water on a drowsy man.

"Huh," he laughed, with an attempt of mirth, "I had you almost believing there for a minute or so that I'd forgot, didn't I?" He gave another little grunt of a laugh and went on. "But just don't you worry, old girl, about little Willie forgetting. It was too big a thing for me to dismiss it from my mind in any four years or four score years for that matter. Why—"

"I don't believe you remembered it at all," interrupted his wife. "I'll venture to say you wouldn't have mentioned it if I hadn't brought the subject up."

"I wouldn't, eh? Well that just shows how easily I can fool you. Just because I decided to keep quiet during the dinner hour and see if you remembered, you take it for granted that the date didn't mean any more to me than the Fourth of July. Why, I thought of it this morning at breakfast—the fact is, I thought of it as soon as I got my eyes open this morning."

Mrs. Brown still was looking unconvinced, and Brown added this: "What d'ye do with your—with that package I sent out this afternoon. Didn't get any? Well, that's a nice deal! And I told 'em to be prompt. Well, I'll run up to the drug store and telephone and see what's the matter."

As soon as the meal was over he went out the door leisurely, but broke into a lope when he got out of the hallway leading from his flat.

About two minutes later he was trying to get a florist's shop on the "phone. The nearest one seemed to be closed for the day, but he finally caught one that was open. "Rush out a dozen and a half—no, make it two dozen—yes, two dozen—of your biggest—roses. And, say, there's a couple of dollars extra in it for you if you'll get 'em out inside of 30 minutes and have the boy say that you were sorry you forgot to send 'em this afternoon." That was his message, and the man said he would do his best.

"They said the package was started the middle of the afternoon," he announced to his wife when he got back. "They think they'll be here before long, surely. Never mind what it is. You'll see."

Brown probably would have spent about $1.50 or $2 on an anniversary present if he had thought of it in the first place, but when a man has to square himself he can't expect to get off at any low rates, and he paid his bill at the florist's the next day without a quiver.

Thereby Hangs a Tale.

Rev. Father Charles Kavanaugh, secretary to Archbishop Ryan, is an inveterate punster. He can't help it. Let the discussion around the archbishop's frugal table be whatnot, Father Kavanaugh "butts in" with his plays on words.

They were talking about the most health-acquiring way to get to Europe. Rev. Father Philip R. McDevitt, superintendent of parochial schools, said that the best way to take the trip across the pond is to go on a cattle ship.

"You are giving us a steer," was the remark of the punster.

Looking gravely at his secretary, Archbishop Ryan, on the spur of the moment, squelched him with:

"You ought to look 'sheepish,' but I notice you are not even 'cowed.'"—Philadelphia Times.

A Future Best Seller.

"Is your education," we inquired, "now complete?"

"Gracious, no!" replied the girl graduate. "I've got to give a year to the study of alcoholism, six months to the divorce laws, a quarter to morbid psychology and another quarter to bridge and bridge cheating."

"But—but—" we stammered.

"You see," she explained, "I intend to be a novelist."

ImpRACTICABLE Suggestion.

"You must learn to trust your fellowmen," said the professional optimist.

"There's no use in talking that way to me," answered the worried-looking citizen. "I'm in the grocery business."

Put 'Em Down.

"I think fancy hose should be prohibited because they promote bad manners."

"What's the answer?"

"They encourage the great American habit of sticking feet up on desks, chairs, porch posts, etc."
